

FOLD HERE

Discussion Questions

1. The concept of a “perfect Mexican daughter” is discussed throughout the book —what characteristics embody that idea? How does this “perfection” weigh on Julia?
2. Being undocumented is a central theme in this book. Julia wants to go to college, but worries that it will lead to it being discovered that her parents are undocumented. How does this impact Julia, her relationship with her parents, and her life in general?
3. The novel ends with Julia entering a new chapter of her life, how has she changed since the beginning? Is she bringing any part of her old self along?

BANNED BOOK Club

I Am Not Your Perfect Mexican Daughter

Erika L. Sanchez

FOLD HERE