Harrisburg is...

BROKEN

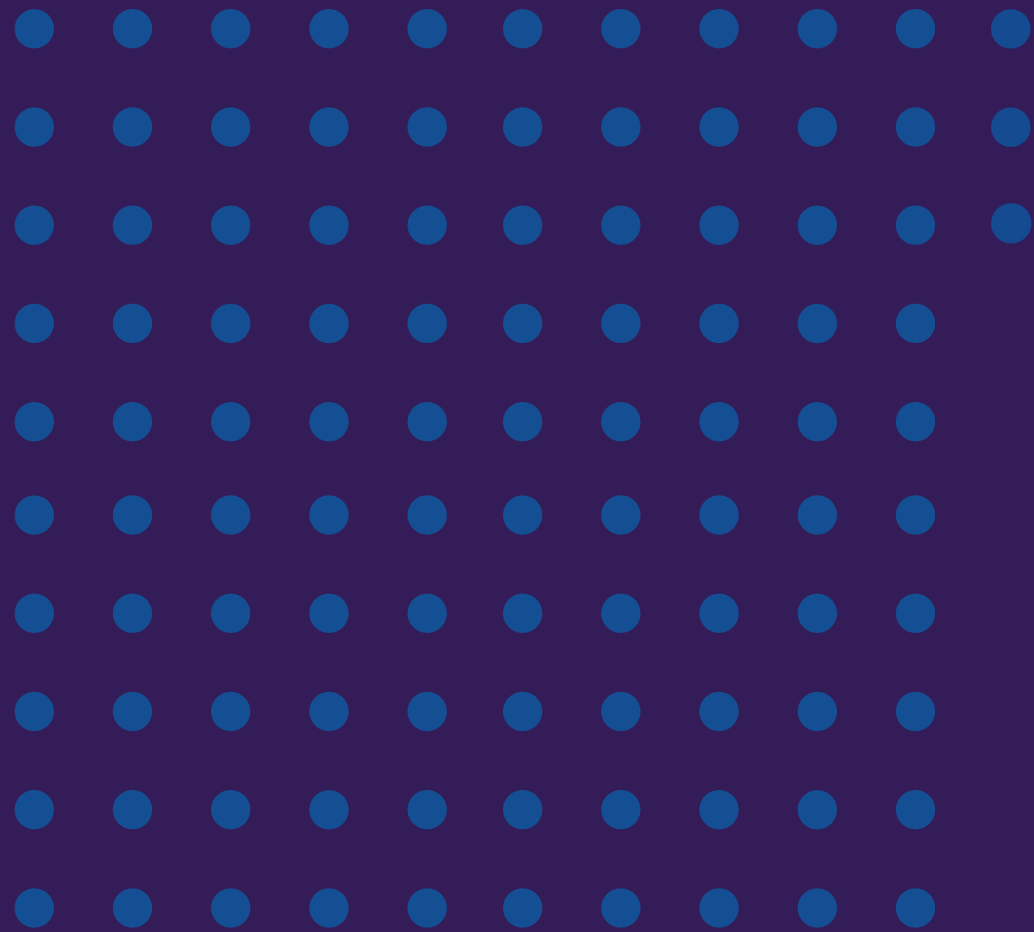

- A nationwide analysis of state legislatures found that Pennsylvania had one of the least efficient state legislatures in the country last year.
- The deep partisan divide and the concentration of power within legislative leaders play a major role.

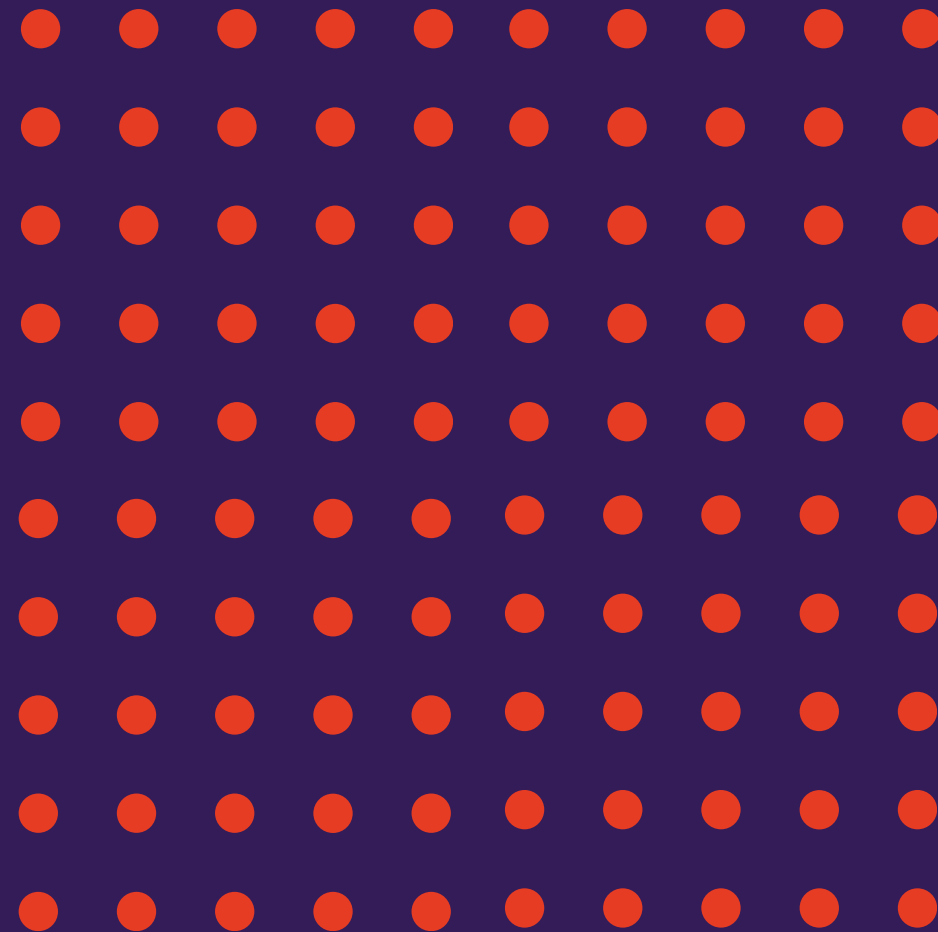

The PA House of Representatives

203 SEATS ALL UP FOR ELECTION

103

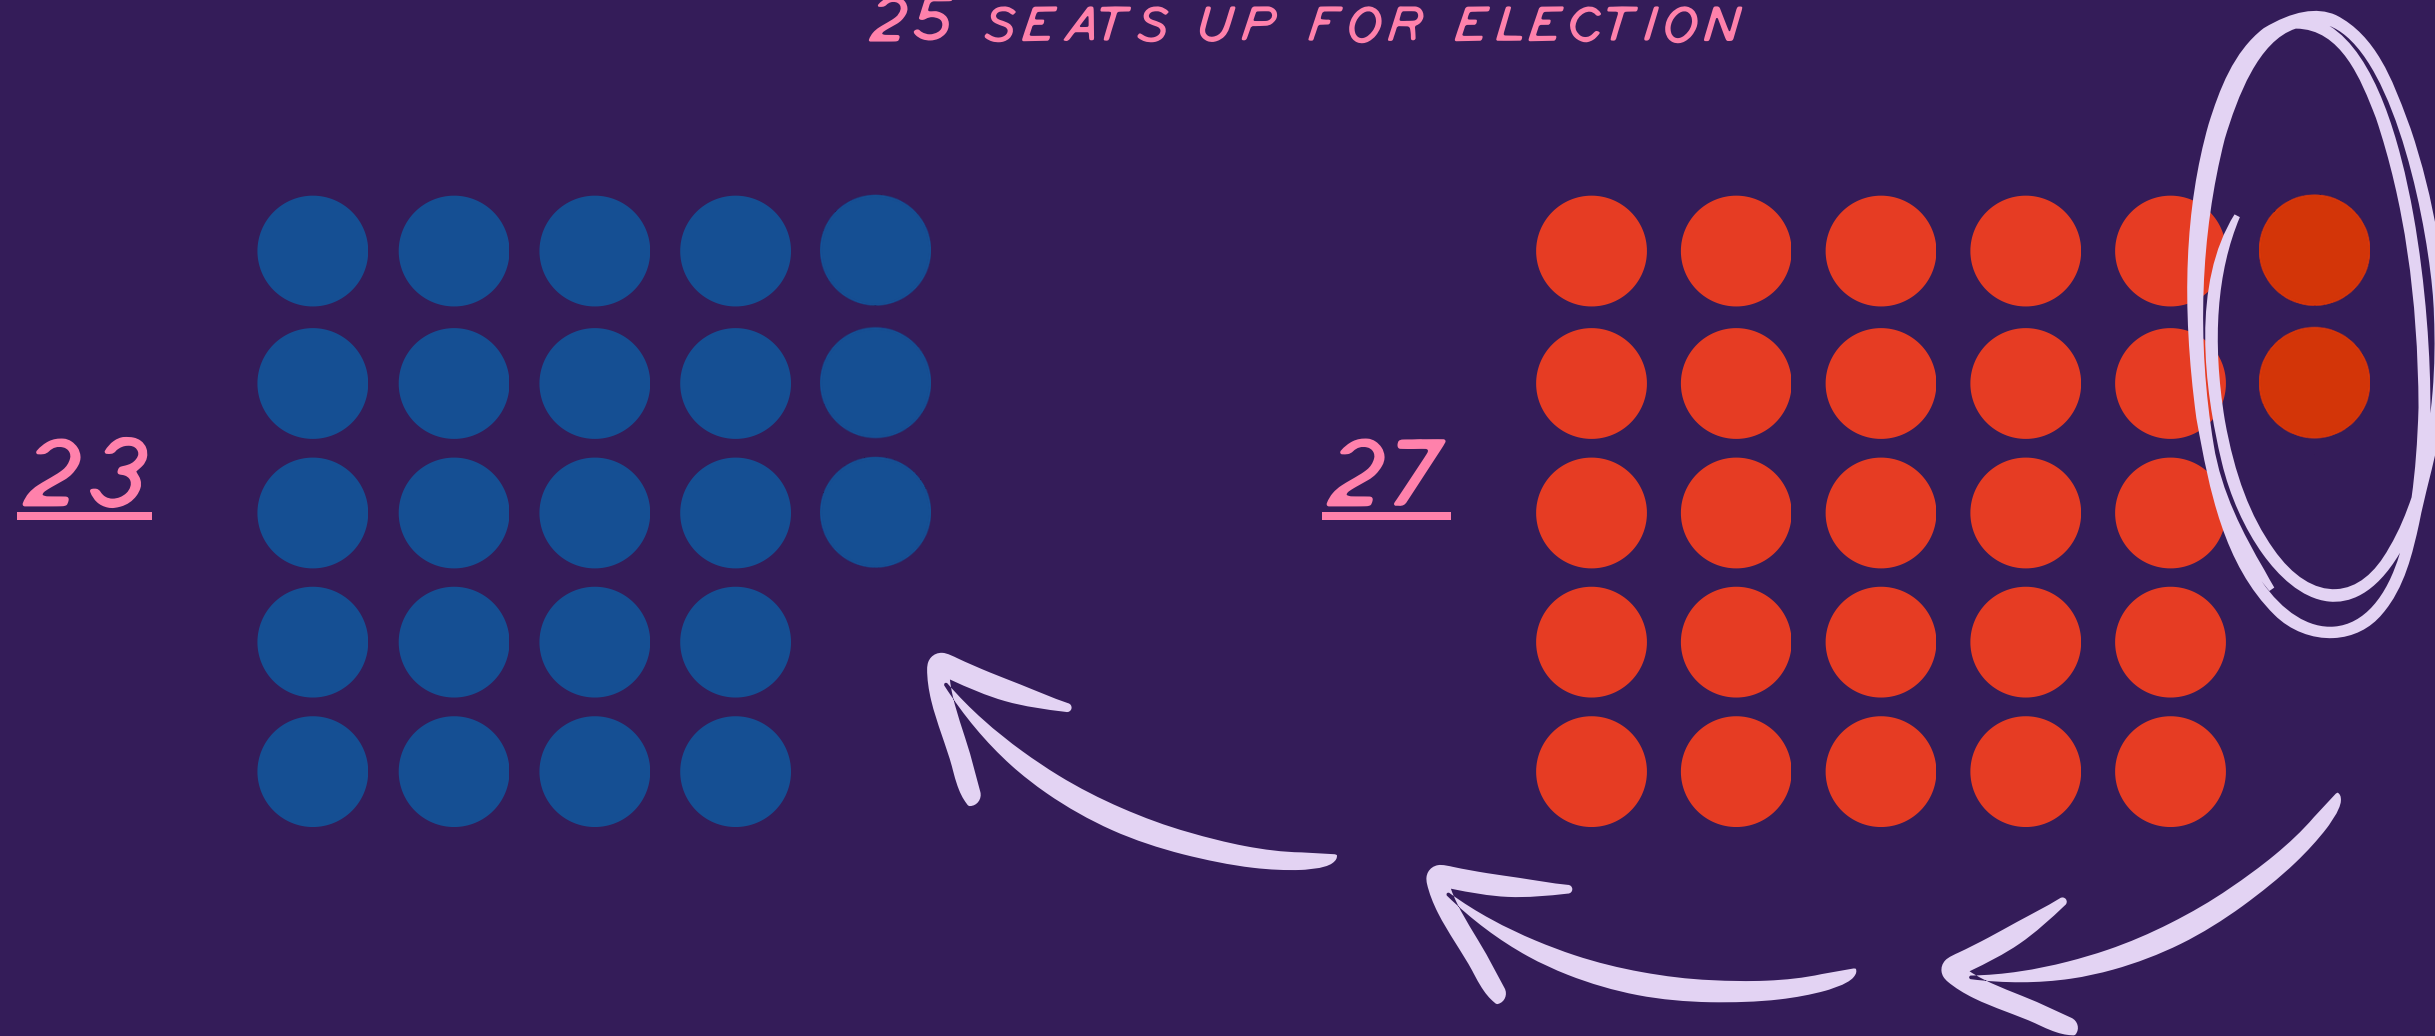

100

- A three-seat lead in the House is not enough – we must expand this majority.
- 2025 general and special election results indicate that there is momentum to make this happen.

The PA Senate

25 SEATS UP FOR ELECTION

- Flipping just two seats would allow the Lieutenant Governor to break any tied votes – a majority would be even better.
- Winning the Senate would ensure unified control and the potential to pass critical legislation – offering Pennsylvania protection from harmful federal policies.

the Assignment:

- ① RE-ELECT the Governor & Lieutenant Governor
 - ② EXPAND the House & FLIP the Senate
- creating a trifecta!

 We will elect all state House seats and half of the Senate seats in 2026

PA DRAWING NATIONAL ATTENTION – AGAIN

- There are 17 US House Seats up for grabs in PA this year – 4 of them are national targets.
- There are 435 seats - GOP has 218, Dems have 214, 1 Independent and two open seats. A three seat gain would allow Democrats to gain control.

*Note - 1 Indie switched from Rep to Indie this year
2 open seats are 1 Rep and 1 Dem

- What if ICE shows up?
 - What if am purged?
 - Is vote by mail safe?
 - People are handing me papers at the door.
